DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 12 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. The tridecyl group of claim 12 is not a branched alcohol group as claimed in parent claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-12, 21, 22, 32 and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martin (4339349).

Martin teaches a corrosion inhibitor composition, which can comprise a combination of a phosphate ester and a quaternary amine (column 7, line 55 – column 9, line 25; and Table I, inhibitor 5). The composition may be in water, and can contain other corrosion inhibitors as in current claims 21 and 22 (see general teaching and claim 1). A specific example of the formation of a branched polyalkoxylated phosphate ester is disclosed in example 7 of Martin, and is generally taught at column 8, lines 17-30. Martin differs from the present invention in that a specific example of the use of a combination of a nonaryl containing quaternary ammonium compound and branched polyalkoxylated phosphate ester is not disclosed. However, it would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to utilize a combination of nonaryl containing quaternary ammonium compound and branched polyalkoxylated phosphate ester within the scope of the teachings of Martin, given the teaching of Martin that such combination is useful for corrosion inhibition. The use of an ethoxylated tridecyl alcohol of the phosphate ester of claim 12, would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, in view of the ethoxylated dodecyl and tetradecyl alcohols taught by Martin, since homologues with such similar structures would be expected to have similar utility and properties.

4. Claims 13-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. Claims 23-31, 33, 34 and 36 are allowable over the art of record.

6. Applicant's arguments have been noted. As noted above, contrary to applicant's arguments, Martin does teach a branched polyalkoxylated phosphate ester in example

7. A new rejection is thus presented in this action.
